The Findlay Condor Range construction follows the modern trend to strength and durability. Heavy castings are used for the cooking top and fire box. Careful insulation at the right spots prevent damage to enamelled surfaces.

For information regarding how to go down a fire escape and what to take with you—that is, in case of a fire, and you are in a hurry—ask Joe Mark.

Have you ever tried the new General Protex Safety Call, Corrosive proof, always fresh, guaranteed flash light protection at the same old price.

Teacher: "Why Glen, have you been fighting? Your face and hands are all scratched?"
Glen: "No ma'm. We moved yesterday and it was my job to hold the cat."

Have you checked over the new Good-Cheer, fuel-saving Furnacette on display. We also have an assortment of the old reliable Quebec heaters.

Fred Clever has decided the "bring-em-in-alive idea" is not so hot. These hunks will fly away if you give them a chance.

Radio Batteries! Sure! A fresh stock covering the complete lines of Eveready, Burgess and General. Guaranteed satisfaction.

"Say Reverend," said a church member who was inclined to backslide rather frequently, "I am worried about how I am going to get my shirt over my wings in heaven?"

"Well," said the minister, "I'd be more worried about how to get my trousers over my long-forked tail if I were you."

Two only Second-Hand Cook Stoves, in fair condition, at sale prices.

We have Mr. Turner of Seattle spending a week hunting in our district. We wish him every success.

Profanity Fines Help Queen's Fund

Not that railwaymen are any more addicted to profanity than the ordinary run of mortals, but the Queen's Canadian Fund received a rather unexpected contribution from a Canadian National train crew who undertook to fine themselves everytime they uttered a swear word. By mutual consent, it was agreed that any member of the crew who made use of a profane word while in the van would place a penny in a receptacle set aside for the fun. The last week-end on which the crew reached their terminal, the receptacle was full to overflowing—it contained nine dollars and fifty-six cents, which went to aid victims of German bombs in Britain.

C. H. S. Notes

This year we have in the place of our old Students' Union, a Students' Parliament.

There were two candidates nominated for the position of premier, Miss Evelyn Sletto and Mr. Maurice Weiss. All week the black boards have been full of high school (subtle) (?) propaganda—each side trying to outdo the other.

At last, on Friday afternoon the usual campaign speeches were delivered in the usual high-grade manner, and the students went home to reflect over the week-end which premier they would prefer.

At last Monday came and the excitement around old C. H. S. reached fever pitch. The students marched up to the polling station like they were all 21 and old hands at marking their "X" opposite the name of their choice candidate.

Shortly before noon the returning officer announced the election of Mr. Maurice Weiss to the position as premier of the C. H. S. Students' Parliament for the year 1941-42.

IMPORTANT PACT IS SIGNED IN LONDON

An agreement has been reached between the Soviet Government and the Czechoslovak Republic, and a Pact was signed at the Russian Embassy in London.

This picture shows the signing of the Pact by M. Maisky, Russian Ambassador, watched by M. Jan Masaryk, the Czechoslovak Foreign Minister, who signed for Czechoslovakia.

Books For Our Troops in Canada and Newfoundland To Be Collected

POST OFFICE FACILITATES COLLECTION.

Special arrangements have been made by the Canadian Post Office Department to facilitate the sending of books to Canadian forces in camps in Canada and in Newfoundland. The value attached by soldiers, sailors and airmen to a plentiful supply of books in their reading rooms, etc., has been stressed both by the men themselves and by those who have visited their camps. Good, interesting books always are in demand and it is highly important that the supply should be frequently replenished.

Hon. Wm. P. Mulock, K.C., M.P., postmaster general, announces that in the interest of our soldiers, sailors, and airmen stationed in Canada and Newfoundland, and as a special measure of co-operation, all post offices throughout the country will act as depositing centres for books.

Persons who wish to supply our forces with much appreciated reading matter now may hand in these volumes at their post office—the books donated should be clean and in good condition. It will not even be necessary to wrap them as they will be placed in mail bags especially provided for the purpose.

Citizens can ensure that men in camps in Canada and in Newfoundland will receive the full benefit of this privilege by going to their bookshelves and picking out books and handing them in at the post office, which will arrange for delivery to the various training camps—where they will be welcomed with interest and will relieve the monotony of the boys in Canada's forces, especially during the fall and winter seasons.

Our Food Supply

(Written Specially for C.W.N.A. Newspapers By John Atkins, Farmer-Journalist)

No. 1—Free Food Period Ends

Every fourth mouthful of food eaten in Canadian towns and cities has been donated to those who ate it by the farmers who grew it for almost 20 years.

Vast quantities of food, which should have gone to feed the people of Europe, had depressed prices and enabled urban famines to feed themselves at less than cost. This surplus food piled up in Canada and other food-producing countries because Hitler had decided that Europe must quit peaceful trading and prepare for war.

While urban Canadians were able to buy their food at less than cost they were indifferent to what was happening to rural Canadians. Although they should have realized that their own well-being and security depended upon a sound Canadian agriculture, they were quite content to let the farmers do all the worrying. Unfair conditions against which urban people rebel and strike, made a gigantic sweatshop of the agricultural industry.

During this prolonged agricultural depression all Canada suffered, but urban people suffered much less than farm people. For the ten years following 1930 the one-third of Canada's people who live on farms received less than one-tenth of the total income of all Canadians. Farm people could not take proper care of themselves nor of their plant and equipment. When the war broke out farmers as a class had not the health and strength nor the capital that they needed to carry on and produce all the food that we now require.

Now, the farm problem, our food supply problem, has caught up with Canadians and we all must face it.

Our surpluses of food melted away as more and more food was required by Great Britain, by our allies, by our forces, by our own people for harder work, and by the hungry in other lands. Our wheat surplus, which seemed to be a dead weight on our economy, is now a live source of comfort when we are being asked to go easy on the use of pork and cheese and other foods that Great Britain needs. All good Canadians will gladly change their diet for the sake of those who need these foods. It is little more difficult to make ourselves see the necessity of paying more for our food to ensure the production of it.

After years of getting one-quarter of our food free it is hard to give up the idea that we can continue to live at the expense of farmers. If we are fair and reasonable, as most of us are, we will see that we are insuring our own food supply by giving the food grower a square deal. If we refuse to see the wisdom and justice of paying farmers the cost of production, the average farmer will not be able to grow the food we need.

Canada's farmers have filled every British food quota since the war began. They might have produced enough to supply fully Canada's domestic needs as well if their advice had been taken in the first place. But that is another story. The simple hard fact that underlies our whole food supply is that farmers cannot grow food for less than it costs them to grow it.

Prices that will enable the average farm family to carry on, and enough help to grow the food, are the twin solutions of our food supply problem, our farm problem, for the duration of the war.

Always carry your registration card with you. Also your driver's license.

INFLATION AT OTTAWA

(Salmon Arm Observer)

Week after week officials at Ottawa are calling for a stoppage of inflation in prices, which the public has to pay, but it is all wind! These chaps are drawing good fat salaries and a raise in costs of 10 per cent or even 25 per cent is not seriously felt.

Then they complain of increased wages for the working man and seek to keep him down. Perhaps there may be something to this among those who are doing war work, but it is certain the average worker, the general farmer and the small businessman have not seen any increase in their revenue, but rather a greater increase in their costs of living.

Cut the rising costs and wages can be kept stationary. The fact that the government has ordered a cost of living bonus and may make it compulsory to everyone, does not give a favorable impression to those of us who cannot afford higher costs. We have an idea that a higher bonus will naturally mean an addition to the prices the poor man has to pay for his food!

FIRE SLOWS WAR EFFORT

Fire Prevention Week concludes on Saturday, October 11.

The government of Canada and underwriters' associations in all provinces have combined once more to bring home to us the perils of fire, the waste of time and materials that result from it, the tragic loss of life, above all, the fact that most of this need not be if we would be ever-watchful to overcome the old, old human failing—carelessness.

This year, we have received the additional warning that fire on the home front paralyses men on the fighting front; that he who burns up time and materials in a Canada at war is menacing our war effort and, in proportion, helping Hitler. How vital time and materials are to us is obvious. Two years of war for us in Canada have been mainly two years of preparation. Today, the tide of victory is definitely with us. Why? Because, at long last, we of the allied camp are reaching the level in production of war materials which allows us to match gun for gun, plane for plane, tank for tank, shell for shell with the Nazi terrorists who were preparing while we were trading.

So, preventing fire becomes more than mere protection of the pocket book or bank account. It is a national duty of the highest importance, and it is not a duty that can be discharged by the mass. This is a job for the individual. And it is not difficult. It simply calls for eternal vigilance against that carelessness so many of us are fain to term "an accident." . . . The vow never to take a chance with fire. As a people we can finance tons of fire protection; all that is not worth one ounce of fire prevention. And prevention, again, is the task of everybody.

Last month, our government asked us to reconsecrate ourselves to the cause for which we fight. That means all-out effort. That effort cannot be all-out if we allow fire needlessly to sap the foundations of our war machine.

This is one way; each one of us must make every week Fire Prevention Week.

WINTERING FARM CATTLE

(Experimental Farms Note)

In a good many places throughout the prairie provinces, cattle are commonly stabled at night and turned out to feed at straw stacks during the day. Under these conditions, it is essential that the barn be free of drafts and that the atmosphere be dry. Cattle barns should not be unduly warm, as the animals have no extra covering when outside and if they are inclined to sweat at night, the sudden change in temperature when turned out will act as a severe shock.

With the feeds available on most farms, it is difficult to keep the bowels of the cattle sufficiently loose in winter. Plenty of water will tend to overcome this difficulty and by taking the chill off through using a tank heater, the animals will drink more. Furthermore, cold water will chill them and more feed will be required to keep them up in condition. They should of course, have access to salt at all times as their systems require it and at the same time, salt whets their appetite for water.

Cattle often develop sores at the base of their tongues and this is more likely to happen when feeding barley straw or hay containing skunk grass. When this trouble does occur, the animals will show signs of having difficulty in swallowing. In order to remedy the trouble, the animal should be held by the nostrils with one hand (being careful not to close off its breathing) while the tongue is pulled well out with the other. An assistant may then remove all the beards and foreign matter from the base of the tongue and apply vaseline. This treatment should be repeated once a week until the sores have healed.

By about Christmas the lice on cattle are likely to have become so numerous that they will be a definite worry to the animals. A cheap and effective louse powder may be prepared by mixing sulphur and powdered grey hellebore in equal parts, by bulk. The powder should be sprinkled on the back, around the neck and under the tail once a week. A baking powder can, with the top perforated, makes a very suitable sprinkler.

Only iodized salt should be used for live stock and the importance of feeding and watering at a set time cannot be over-emphasized.

RATIONING MAY HIT THE TOURIST TRADE

Prospects of federal rationing of gasoline may have an effect on the provincial government's plans to attract more tourist traffic to this province.

In view of the need of avoiding the necessity of federal rationing of this fuel, the Alberta Motor Association is urging motorists to do everything possible to co-operate with the dominion and effect voluntary conservation of this fuel.

Nevertheless, it appears that the province will base its tourist development plans largely on prospects for gasoline rationing. It has been suggested in some quarters that such dominion restrictions are bound to have an adverse effect on tourist traffic from the United States.

Alberta needs many more tourists, and this country needs all the U.S. money that can be attracted here.

This will help Canada in making war purchases in the United States, and such aid is vital in this present emergency.

Realizing that gasoline rationing would have an immediate effect on Alberta, which is expected to be the magnet to a growing volume of U.S. tourists, officials of the A.M.A. stress the need of heeding the federal appeal to conserve fuel and aid the country's war effort to a maximum degree while there still is the opportunity to do so voluntarily.

NEW CANADA YEAR BOOK NOW OFF THE PRESS — CONTAINS MUCH INTERESTING DATA

The publication of the 1941 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1941 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,000 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress that this country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, 72 years ago.

Eight Special Articles

The special articles that are shown in this edition of the Year Book have been selected to illustrate the effects of the war on the Canadian economy and to show such changes and developments as have taken place to date. There are eight such special articles.

Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50 per copy; this covers merely the cost of the paper, printing and binding. By special permission, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain such copies at the nominal fee of

PLAN AIRGRAPH SYSTEM TO SPEED LETTERS FOR OVERSEAS FORCES

With a view to speeding up the delivery of letters from relatives and friends in Canada to the Canadian forces in the United Kingdom, Hon. Wm. P. Mulock, postmaster general, stated that arrangements are now under way for the institution of a time-and space-conserving airgraph service between this country and the United Kingdom.

In keeping with his policy to do everything possible to facilitate the transmission of mails for our forces, with the minimum of loss and delay, Hon. Mr. Mulock is planning to institute this special system at an early date. Following completion of arrangements now under way, a definite announcement will be made by Mr. Mulock as to the date of commencement.

Under this special system the sender of an airgraph communication writes the message and address on a special form provided by the post office. The completed form is next photographed on miniature film which is despatched by air. On arrival in the United Kingdom photographic enlargements are made and delivered through the army postal service to the troops in the usual way. The rate on an airgraph message will be 10 cents.

Front Quarter Lamb

Unknown or perhaps unnoticed by many, the marketing of lamb has changed considerably in recent years, so that high quality lamb is now available in all four seasons. The supply is most abundant between September and January. Why not take advantage of the front quarters of lamb being featured by your neighborhood butcher at this time? Besides being economical, this cut is tender and tasty and presents many possibilities for a varied menu.

In the front quarter, averaging 6 to 8 pounds, are found the shoulder, the neck, the breast and shank. If you have a large family, the entire front can be boned and rolled by your butcher and the bones can be used for a steaming pot of Scotch Broth. If a smaller pot is all that is needed, the shoulder can be used for that purpose, while the breast, shank and neck can be used for stews, casseroles and scallops.

The Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggests the following methods of roasting a rolled front or shoulder, as well as several ways of utilizing the cold meat that is often left.

Roller Front of Lamb

Method 1. Rub roast with salt and pepper. Place in an uncovered roasting pan, fat side up. Do not remove "fell", it has been found not to affect the flavor of the meat and its presence lessens the cooking time of the roast. Place in a moderately low oven, preheated 300-350 F. and maintain this temperature for the entire roasting. Allow 30-35 minutes to the pound. The roast should be turned several times to ensure even cooking.

Method 2. Follow the instructions in method 1, but place in an oven preheated to 450 F. Sear at this temperature for 20 minutes, then cover the pan and reduce the temperature quickly by leaving the oven door open for a few minutes. Continue the cooking at 300 F. until the roast is done. Allow about 35 minutes to the pound.

The amount of shrinkage in cooking was found to be approximately the same in both these methods.

Roller Shoulder of Lamb, Stuffed

When the butcher rolls the shoulder of lamb, have him leave an opening into which you may stuff the dressing. Be sure to take home the bones from this rolled shoulder, too. They may be cooked in the pan with the roast until a nice brown color, then removed and put into the soup pot as a foundation for Scotch Broth.

Dressing

- 1 onion, minced
- 2 or 3 stalks celery, chopped
- 2 or 3 tablespoons, fat melted
- 2 cups stale bread crumbs (not finely ground)
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Savoury seasonings, or fresh mint sauce (with most of the liquid drained off)

Combine all ingredients, stuff into shoulder of lamb. Follow above directions for roasting.

Scotch Broth

- Roast lamb bones
- 1 to 1½ cups lamb gravy
- 1½ quarts water
- 3 tablespoons pearl barley
- ½ cup finely chopped carrots
- ½ cup finely chopped cabbage
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup of chopped celery
- ¼ to ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Salt and pepper and other seasonings.

Combine the first three ingredients, cover and bring to boil. Reduce heat and allow to simmer gently for about half an hour. Remove the bones and shake free of all barley. Now add the other vegetables, cover and simmer for another ¾ to 1 hour. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper to taste, and other seasonings. (The amount of seasoning will depend on the amount already in the gravy).

According to a news item 40,000 tons of soot fall each year on the face of old London. No wonder that even in peace time things look black in the Old Country.

A Son's Thoughtfulness

Father: "Did I hear the clock strike three when you came home last night?"

Junior: "Yes, Dad. It was going to strike eleven, but I stopped it so it wouldn't wake you up."

Tomorrow, She Will Fly

Baby daughter: "Do angels have wings, mummy?"

Mother: "Yes, darling."

Baby: "And can they fly?"

Mother: "Yes, dear."

Mother: "Tomorrow, darling."

A free people must INVEST in its own FREEDOM

A Message

FROM THE WAR SAVINGS
COMMITTEE, OTTAWA

The people of Canada are the most fortunate in the world.

Fortunate in the great sweep of space that is ours from ocean to ocean.

Fortunate in the vast yield and immense resources of our forests, fields and mines.

Fortunate, too, in our democratic institutions.

In a word, fortunate in our freedom. This freedom is threatened today as it has never been threatened before.

The fall of the British Empire would mean complete dislocation of our unfettered way of life.

Everyone wants this way of life defended—this freedom saved—for our own future and for posterity. The response to every appeal for our defence has been magnificent—heartening to the whole Empire—alarming to Hitler.

But the need for weapons of war grows ever more urgent, as the Nazi threat spreads wider over the world.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory.

In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort.

A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Invest in War Savings Certificates the dollars you don't need to spend. After Victory, they come back to you with interest. Spend less NOW so that you can spend more THEN, when labour and materials will be available for the things you need. There is no price too high for freedom.

Three Simple Regular Methods of Saving

BANK PLEDGE PLAN—Convenient for business men and women, and others not on a payroll. Simply sign a War Savings Bank Pledge and give it to your bank. The bank will make monthly deductions from your account.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS—A handy instalment plan. Stamp folders may be obtained from Post Offices, Banks and many retail outlets. 16 stamps will buy one $4 Certificate, worth $5 at maturity.

RURAL SAVINGS PLAN—Farmers receiving regular payments from marketing outlets can authorize regular deductions of any amount from their cheques. If delivering grain to an elevator, authorize it to issue a cash ticket in the largest possible multiple of $4 in favor of The Receiver General of Canada, for the purchase of War Savings Certificates, to be registered in your name and mailed you direct.

SUPPORT THE WAR WEAPONS DRIVE IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Every town and city in Canada will soon conduct a War Weapons Drive. You will be asked to put all you've got behind the campaign in your community. Canada must provide more planes, more ships, more tanks, more guns, more shells. If you are already buying War Savings Certificates—raise your pledge. If you are not, get your dollars working for Victory.

PROVIDE MOTOR FUNDS FOR ROADS

Campaign initiated by the Alberta Motor Association to induce the provincial government to "ear-mark" all motor revenues for highway purposes is reported to be meeting with steadily growing progress and support.

Endorsement has been expressed by various organizations and it is anticipated that similar action will be proposed at a number of important provincial conventions to be held during the next few months.

In an article in Voice of Freedom, official organ of the A.M.A., Major W. J. S. Walker, of Calgary, points out that the policy of the state of California is to apply all state revenue from automobiles on highway construction and maintenance.

"The logic of California's policy is very simple," says Major Walker. "Because good roads induce the purchase of more automobiles, and more extended use of them, automobile revenue increases in proportion to the quality and mileage made available."

Consequently, Alberta motorists paying millions of dollars into the coffers of the provincial government annually, which money goes into the general revenue fund and is used for the government's general requirements, with part going to roads, are demanding a revision of provincial policy.

Ontario finds it good business to spend all motor revenues on highways, and borrows additional funds for the same purpose. California has found the policy so satisfactory that it would not think of going back to the system now in vogue in Alberta.

Alberta motorists must intensify their demand that the money they pay to the provincial government in the form of motor licenses and gasoline tax is spent entirely on road improvements.

The Alberta Beekeepers' Association will hold their eighth annual convention in Calgary at the Empress hotel on October 15 and 16. Anyone interested in bees is cordially invited to attend.

"Going Back"—1.

The belief that varieties of wheat and other crops deteriorate or "go back" is widespread. This belief is probably quite old; indeed, it may trace back to Charles Darwin's conception that "nature abhors self-fertilization." Thus in the early years of the present century we witnessed efforts to rejuvenate Red Fife and Marquis by crossing different plants of the same variety. This resulted in "regenerated" Red Fife, or "regenerated" Marquis; but there was never a shadow of evidence that these regenerated strains were any more productive than the originals.

The "going back" idea may be strengthened by the knowledge that growers of hybrid corn must renew their seed each year. However, the situation with cross-fertilized crops, such as corn, is quite different from that with crops mainly self-fertilized such as wheat, oats and barley.

The fact that Thatcher wheat suffered from leaf rust this year has led many people to believe that its rust resistance is weakening. This is emphatically not so. Leaf rust and stem rust are caused by two quite different fungi. Thatcher has always been susceptible to leaf rust, and there is nothing to suggest that it is resistant to stem rust than it was ten years ago.

Deterioration in farm stocks of wheat is due to volunteering of other varieties grown a year or more earlier, to mechanical mixing in machinery or granaries, to livestock pasturing on or passing over fields, and to occasional natural crossing with other nearby varieties.

The occurrence of speltoids in wheat might be considered an example of deterioration through natural causes; but they appear to be largely self-eliminating.
